Updates from the new DOPPS Practice Monitor - Peritoneal Dialysis (DPM-PD): Following the Pulse of US PD Care

Dear Colleague,

Please join us for the meeting that will include updates on the DOPPS Practice Monitor – Peritoneal Dialysis (DPM-PD), including the growth of PD in the US, patient perspective on improving access to PD care, and important findings from the Optimizing Prevention of Peritonitis in the United States (OPPUS) study.

This event will feature new scientific work with expert speakers and audience participation. All presentations will be in English without translation.

As a reminder, this meeting will be held online, and registration is required to attend (please see registration link below). We hope you can join us to hear about home peritoneal dialysis care and participate in interactive discussions.

Speakers

- Dr. Jeffrey Perl
  Unity Health Toronto
  PDPSS Co-Principal Investigator

- Dr. Jenny Shen
  Harbor-UCLA Medical School

- Dr. Mark Lambie
  University Hospitals of North Midlands

Patient Perspective

Derek Forfang is a 10-year veteran of advocacy on behalf of people with kidney diseases. For 20 years, Mr. Forfang has had kidney failure and has experienced in-center hemodialysis before receiving a kidney transplant. His experience in and with people on dialysis provides firsthand knowledge into the culture of dialysis clinics and how the current system is not designed to be people centered.
